INTO SALOON ON SABBATH

The Place of Mr. Wann, of Fulton, Entered by Thieves on Sunday Night.

THEY GOT PLENTY TO DRINK

Many Flasks of Whiskey Among the Articles Stolen-Other Fulton News

The saloon conducted by Mr. John Wann at the corner of Louisiana and Seventh Streets, in Fulton, was robbed time Sunday night. The thieves entered the place through a window in one of the back rooms and then cut a hole in the panel of the doct, which separates the saloon doer, which separates the saloon from the back room, large enough to got one's arm (brough. Mr. Wann states that the door was fastened by a hasp over a staple, through which a poker was inseried to prevent the door from being opened. This poker was evidently taken out of its place, which gave the parties free access to the bar.

The wall near the door had been broken and an attempt made to cut through the latiles, in order to gain entrance by this method, but this was abandoned. Among the articles missing were 100 packages of chewing gun, 32 half-pint flasks of whiskey, 7 quart flasks of whiskey, 7 quart flasks of whiskey, 7 quart flasks of chewing tobacco, 2 boxes of cigars and an owiscoat, which beinged to sames Roach, the bar-tender. They also looted the cash resister, but fortunately Mr. Wann had taken all the money out Saturday night. HIS LEG BROKEN.

Mr. W. T. Davis, an employe of the virginia and North Catolina Wheel Welks, had his right leg broken a few days ago. One thousand cabbage heads to be taken in at a theatre box-office is the peculiar novelty to be presented at the Academy of Music within the next few days. A striking advertisement in this morning's Times-Dispatch announces this curious theatrichl yearning for cabbages—a rather expensive managerial appetite at this particular period of the year: when cabbage heads are selling at 25 cents aprece. This large stock of oddy wanted garden truck is not sought for in order to feed a stranded troupe of thespians, but is desired by the manager of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" as a unique means of booming his play, which is to be seen here next week.

"We do not want to build up a 'cabbage patch on the stage,' he temarked, "for a thousand heads would need a big footinght frame. What we wish is to have these green and white heads as pedestals for. MASS OF SORES MINISTERS

Awful Suffering of a Boy from an Itching Humour.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Not One Square Inch of Skin on His Whole Body Was Unaffected.

"My little son, a boy of five, broke out with an Itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse until we could not dress him any more. They finally advised me to try a certain medical college, but its treatment did not do any good. At the time I was induced to try Culteura Remedies he was so bad that I had to cut his hair off and put the Cutteura Ointment on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare land. There was not one square land. impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was one mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heart-breaking. I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuticura Cintment I began to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applicabegan to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. IN DEBATE

Long and Brilliant Discussion in the Ministerial

VERY LIVELY BUT PLEASANT

The Subject Will Probably Now be Dropped for Awhile. For Open Sessions.

A long and brilliant discussion, utterly

Ministerial Union of Richmond yesterday morning.

The subject was the much debated proposition to use the Bible in the public schools of the city. The speakers were several of the strongest ministers in the local pulpit. The Baptists lined up on one side, and the remainder of the union on the other. The discussion was long and brilliant and breezy, but always pleasant and good-natured. The attendance was, perhaps, the largest the body has ever enjoyed.

ance was, permps, the largest the body has ever enjoyed.

GREAT DEBATE.

The union went into executive session for the first time. The debate was opened by the Rev. Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, pastor of the Grove Avenue Baptist Church, and was followed up by others. Among those who spoke against the proposition ware Dr. Hawthorne Dr. C. S. Gardon. and was followed up by others. Among those who spoke against the proposition were Dr. Hawthorne, Dr. C. S. Gardner, pastor of Grace Street; Dr. R. H. Pitt, editor of the Religious Herald, and the Rev. M. Ashby Jones, pastor of Leigh Street. The ministers who spoke on the other side were Dr. Paul Menzel, of St. John's German Lutheran Church, Dr. Robert Strange, rector of St. Paul's; Dr. John Moncure, Episcopal city missionary; the Rev. Robert A. Goodwin, rector of St. John's, and the Rev. W. A. Cooper, pastor of St. James' Methodist Church.

The discussion, of course, resulted in no action. The ministers merely expressed their views upon the vexed question. Each side claims victory. "We snowed emunder," said one of the Baptists yesterday, "I don't think you will hear anything more of this subject." The other side protested that it didn't feel very much under the snow, and declared itself to be very well satisfied with the showing it made.

Dr. Hawthorne's opening speech was

Dr. Hawthorne's opening speech was of fifteen minutes in length It was a vigorous protest against the use of the Bibie in the schools.

"To commit the religious education of our children in any degree to cfvil government," he said, "betrays a lack of confidence in Christ's plan of advancing his kingdom. It discounts the divinely-appointed means and instrumentalities for the evangelization of the world. It is a confession of weakness in Christianity itself, and in the ability of its friends to uplied and perpetuate it by such means as were contemplated by its great Founder.

The world-famed singer, although sixty years of age, is the picture of health. The fine Southern climate seems to agree with her, and she is in the highest and most buoyant spirits. Her voice is as musical as it was years ago; perhaps not so strong as when she was in her prime, but there is very little difference, and her singing and her consummate art still stand as good as ever. She will arrive in Richmond to-night, traveling in her private car, the "Craig-y-nos," which was named after her handsome home and castle in Wales. Mme. Patti will be accompanied by her husband, the Raron Cederstrom, and also Mrs. George Baird, of London, England, who as her most intimate friend, is her guest on the American tour. A beautiful suite of seven rooms has been engaged for the singer and guests at the Jefferson.

The next great debate in the union will probably be over the question of holding open sessions. One of the ministers in favor of open meetings had a resolution in his pocket yesterday, but was persuaded to hold back for awhile until the debate of yesterday was gotten out of the way. It will in all likelihood be offered at the next meeting.
